A CLEAN CITY.

WHAT SAN FRANCISCO SHOULD BE AND IS NOT.

The following is from the San Francisco Chronicle of 30th March.

It is well for the people of this city to plan for a beautiful San Francisco in the future.
Possibly it would be even better to actually make it a clean city now. As a matter of fact, our municipal housekeeping is beneath criticism and always has been. San Franciscans who have not travelled have no conception of what a clean city is—we do not mean a city which is really clean, but a city which is not disgracefully dirty. There may be other large cities which are as dirty as San Francisco. We suppose there are. Constantinople, for example, is perhaps even worse, but San Francisco is bad enough. Just now, of course, conditions are worse than usual, because the bad weather of the last two or three weeks has interrupted such cleaning work as is done, but the unusually bad condition of our streets just at present serves to remind one that at no time are they in respectable order. There is some effort to keep Market street in what our untutored people suppose to be fairly presentable shape—which it is not—but our residence streets, and the most of our minor business streets, are never clean. We have not at hand the schedule, or alleged schedule, of street sweeping for the present year, but from recollection we may say that there is no pretence of sweeping the greater part of the city area more than once a month.
Some of the down-town streets are supposed to be swept daily, and from that the schedule descends to twice a week, weekly, bi-weekly and monthly. They are not hosed down at all. In the worst parts of the city it is true that the condition of the pavements makes cleanliness impossible, but in those sections no effort seems to be made.

We are of the opinion that the Association for the Adornment of San Francisco could do no more useful work, nor any work more likely to promote its ultimate and more ambitious objects than to enter upon a vigorous campaign for thorough-going municipal house-cleaning right now. Of course, much of the money which we now expend for street cleaning is wasted. But assuming that none of it were wasted—assuming that contractors were all honest, and inspectors both honest and vigilant, and that all the men directly employed by the city gave a fair day's work for a fair day's pay, to keep the city really clean would probably require ten times the sum now annually appropriated for street cleaning, besides a large additional sum paid for water for hosing and flushing. Cleanliness is costly, as any good housekeeper knows. To keep the streets really clean especially in the condition of many of our pavements, is far beyond our means under the dollar limit at the present rate of assessment. Nevertheless we might do a great deal better than we are now doing, might perhaps do very well, indeed, should we determine.

There are few residence streets and no business streets which ought not to be swept every day, and frequently flushed off with the hose. The tenement house streets need continual attention and what they get is continual neglect. In our opinion, whatever it might cost, it would pay in dollars and cents to keep the streets clean. Half the money spent in keeping stores and houses clean would be saved if the dirt were kept out of the streets, and half the money thus saved to business men and housekeepers would be ample to keep the streets as clean as anybody need desire. This is a plain business proposition. If the public will reflect on it, we cannot imagine that there would not soon be a public sentiment not only consenting but demanding that whatever money is required for clean streets should be collected, appropriated and expended for that purpose.

WALLPAPER does not hang, and yet the person whose business it is to paste it up is called a paper-hanger. The reason is simple. Long before the introduction of wallpapers tapestries were used as wall-coverings, the men who put them up being called hangers.

THE money spent in Germany on drink is three times the cost of the army and navy together, and more than seven times the cost of their primary education. Its amount is almost equal to that of the German people, by leaving off drink for a year and a month should pay off the whole debt.

Intimations.

YOU WILL NOT

be deceived. That there are cheats and frauds in plenty everybody knows; but it is seldom or never that any large business house is guilty of them, no matter what line of trade it follows.
There can be no permanent success of any kind based on dishonesty or deception. There never was, and never will be. The men who try that are simply fools and soon come to grief—as they deserve. Now many persons are, nevertheless, afraid to buy certain advised articles lest they be humbugged and deluded; especially are they slow to place confidence in published statements of the merits of medicines. The remedy known as

WAMPOL'S PREPARATION

is as safe and genuine an article to purchase as flour, silk or cotton goods from the mills of manufacturers with a world-wide reputation.
We could not afford to exaggerate its qualities or misrepresent it in the least; and it is not necessary. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry; and how valuable such a blending of these important medicinal agents must be to plain to everybody. It is beyond price in Anemia, Insomnia, Weakness and lack of Nervous Tone, Poor Digestion, Wasting Diseases, La Grippe, Lung Troubles and Blood Impurities. Science can furnish nothing better —perhaps nothing so good. Dr. W. H. Dalke, of Canada, says: "I have used it in my practice and take pleasure in recommending it as a valuable tonic and reconstructive." It is a remedy that can afford to appeal to its record and represents the science and knowledge of bright and aggressive medical investigation.
Effective from the first dose. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Like all good things it is imitated. Sold by chemists throughout the world.

HONGKONG, THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1906.

THE BRITISH TREASURY RETURNS.

The British Treasury returns, for the financial year ended March 31, appear in home papers arriving by the mail to-day. There are many points of interest to the general British taxpayer. The most gratifying feature of these returns is the surplus balance in the Exchequer of £4,879,290. The March quarter was an unusually good one from the point of view of the Chancellor, the total amount received being £57,531,372, as compared with £56,933,118 in the corresponding quarter of last year, or an increase of £598,254. Of this total revenue £54,640,501 was paid in the Exchequer, while £2,890,871 was paid to the local taxation account. For the past year the total revenue for the kingdom was £153,878,984, which, compared with £153,182,782 in the year 1905, yields an increase of £696,202. The estimate of the late Chancellor of the Exchequer for the revenue of the year was £142,454,000, while the estimated expenditure was placed at £142,205,000, leaving a surplus of only £249,000. Out of the total revenue for the 12 months there was paid into the Exchequer £143,977,576, while £9,901,408 went to local taxation accounts. There was a decline in the revenue during the year to the extent of £1,263,096 in respect of Customs and of £462,822 in the matter of excise when the figures are compared with those for the preceding year. As against these items, however, there was an increased return of £1,080,000 in the matter of the Post Office and Telegraph Department, an increase of £659,948 from estate, etc., duties and of £480,000 in respect of stamps. During the quarter which ended on Saturday last, the total receipts into the Exchequer amounted to £69,137,962, of which £54,640,501 was paid in by way of revenue, and £13,864,000 provided by the creation of debt. On the debit side it is set forth that £2,766,466 went to meet the net deficiency of the Exchequer balance on 31 Dec. last; £29,400,691 was applied out of revenue to Supply Services; the Consolidated Fund charges for the quarter amounted to £24,841,515, and temporary advances on the credit of Ways and Means amounting to £7,350,000, were repaid. There is thus left a surplus balance in the Exchequer of £4,879,290.

THE MAIL SERVICE.

The Postmaster-General gives notice that tenders can be sent in on Aug. 3 next for the conveyance of His Majesty's mails to and from India, Ceylon, Australia, and the Far East. The services, according to the L. & C. Express, are to commence on or about Feb. 1, 1908, and will be for a period of either seven or ten years. Respecting the Far East the notice calls for:—
A fortnightly service, or one of two alternating four-weekly services, between Brindisi (or some other South European port) and Hongkong or Shanghai. The steamships will be required to call at Aden, Colombo, Penang, and Singapore, and (if the contract be extended to Shanghai) at Hongkong. For the voyage between the South European port and Hongkong or Shanghai (as the case may be) a minimum speed, in both directions, will be prescribed by contract.
A fortnightly service, or one of two alternating four-weekly services, between Colombo and Hongkong or Shanghai. The steamships will be required to call at Penang and Singapore, and (if the contract be extended to Shanghai) at Hongkong. A minimum speed, in both directions, will be prescribed by contract.
A fortnightly service, or one of two alternating four-weekly services, between Madras (or Calcutta) and Hongkong or Shanghai. The steamships will be required to stop at Penang and Singapore, and (if the contract be extended to Shanghai) at Hongkong. A minimum speed, in both directions, will be prescribed by contract.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE French mail of the 3rd April was delivered in London on the 2nd inst.

SINCE noon yesterday, five cases of plague—all Chinese—have been added to the returns for the year, numbering to date 284.

CAPTAIN A. A. Gibbs, Indian Medical Service, has been placed in medical charge of the 119th Infantry in addition to his other duties from 1st May, 1906, until further orders.

LEAVE of absence to the neighbouring countries on private affairs has been granted to 2nd Lieutenant M. U. Graham, 2nd Royal West Kent Regiment, from 4th May to 15th June.

A TSINGTAU despatch, of 27th ult., says: The salvage steamers Protector and Berthide have left Germany for the Far East, where they will be retained permanently. They will anchor either in Hongkong, or in Tsingtau, or in Wusung.

JOAO Valado, a Spaniard, was brought before the Court on a charge of being a vagrant in the Colony, on the 2nd inst. It was stated that defendant was entitled to a passage to Barry, as he joined his last ship at that port. His Worship ordered P.C. 54 to take Valado to the Harbour Master, who, after hearing his statement, referred him to the Spanish Consul.

DISTRESSING stories are told of the privations of tribes in Siberia. In one case, to save himself and his daughter from death by starvation, a man killed his nephew, and he and his daughter ate the victim's flesh. In another, a tribe virtually committed suicide to save itself from a lingering death.

LIEUTENANT R. M. Crosse, Royal Garrison Artillery, recently transferred to Hongkong, on completion of gunnery course at Shoeburyness, takes up the duties of instructor of gunnery at this station. Mr. Crosse has been a gunner officer since July, 1901, when he got his first commission, and he got his lieutenantancy in March, 1904.

INSPECTOR Hanson placed twenty-eight chair and ricksha coolies before Mr. C. A. D. Melbourne, at the Magistracy this morning, on charges of keeping a common gaming house at No. 11, Elgin Street, and with gambling on the premises last evening. Evidence was taken, and his Worship fined the first two men $50 each, the remainder having to pay $2 each.

THE performance of the U.S. battleship New Jersey in maintaining a speed of 19.18 knots an hour in a four-hour endurance run off the New England coast, coupled with her remarkable speed over a measured mile at Rockland, Me., at a 19.48-knot gait, places this product of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company at the head of all American-built battle-ships, so far as speed is concerned.

We hear that Sir Ewen and Lady Cameron decided not to prolong their travels from Ceylon to China, at which we are sure many of their friends will feel keen regret. Sir Ewen was not quite so well on his arrival in Ceylon and so the decision was taken. He underwent a slight operation at Colombo, from which he derived great advantage, and he sailed homewards in excellent health. — L. & C. Express.

IN Appellate Jurisdiction to-day before His Honour Sir Francis Piggott, Chief Justice, the case of the Brand-Daini Kotahiro Maru collision was concluded. His Honour said that he considered that the Brand was also to blame for the collision, while the Daini Kotahiro Maru had already admitted her blameworthiness. His Honour, however, reserved his full judgment, and the Court adjourned sine die.

LIEUTENANT Edward H. Norman, 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regiment, Hongkong, has been promoted captain after exactly six years' subaltern service. Captain Norman got his first commission in April, 1900, and served with the second Battalion in the South African War, taking part in the operation in Orange River Colony, Cape Colony and the Transvaal, and on the Zululand borders of Natal (King's medal with two clasps).

THE "oil king," John D. Rockefeller, celebrated the birth of his grandson by donating $1 to St. James' Hospital, a struggling eleemosynary institution at Lakewood. The contribution was received in the form of a cheque by the Sisters of St. Joseph, who are struggling to maintain a free hospital. In the same mail that brought Rockefeller's cheque there came another cheque from Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr., for 100 times the amount of the Rockefeller donation.

THE shipyard and engineering shops of the China Steam Navigation Company at Hongkong are to be installed with a powerful gas plant by Messrs. Richardson, Westgarth and Co. The capacity of the plant will be over 392,000 cubic feet of gas per hour, capable of developing 3,300 h.p. with 75 per cent. of the gas after cleansing in four engines, and the remaining 25 per cent. will be used for blast furnaces. This will be the largest installation of the kind in the East.

TO-DAY was the dulldest day the Police Court has seen for quite a while. The few arrests that were made yesterday were not of much interest—petty larceny, hawking sans licence, etc., while there were only two cases of possession of illicit opium to be heard. When Mr. F. A. Hazeland took his seat in the big Court this morning, there were only six prisoners in the dock, who were quickly dealt with, and in the small Court an empty dock greeted Mr. C. A. D. Melbourne. Had it not been for a gambling case, the doors of the small Court might well have been closed.

WE regret to announce the death of Mrs. Walker, the wife of Dr. C. Walker, of the American Presbyterian Mission, at Pisanuloke, of fever. Mrs. Walker had, as was already known, been suffering from fever for some time and she passed away on 19th ult.

THERE has been launched from the shipbuilding yard of Messrs. David and William Henderson and Co., Limited, Meadowside Works, Partick, Glasgow, the twin-screw steamer Cyclops, for the Ocean Steamship Company, Limited, of Liverpool. Her principal dimensions are:—Length over all, 500 ft.; breadth, moulded, 58 ft.; depth, moulded, 42 ft. 6 in.; with a gross tonnage of about 9,000 tons. The machinery will be supplied by the builders, and consists of two engines, each having cylinders 23 in., 38½ in., and 65 in. in diameter and 48 in. stroke, with three large boilers, worked on the owners' closed ash-pit system of forced draught, for a working pressure of 190 lb. per square inch.

THE case was continued at the Magistracy this afternoon in which three shop coolies and two women, employed by the Shiu Ching Wing firm of flour merchants, No. 311, Des Voeux Road Central, were charged with applying false trade marks to flour, on March 19th. Defendants, it is alleged, were transferring the "Red Seal" brand flour into bags bearing the "White Lily" mark. Mr. G. E. Morrell, of Messrs. Dennys and Rowley, prosecuted, and Mr. T. C. Holbrow, of Messrs. Deacon, Looker and Deacon, defended. Inspector Collett watched the case on behalf of the police. Frank Browne, Government analyst, gave evidence as to the analysis of the different brands of flour. The case is proceeding.

Two Chinamen walked into a shoemaker's shop at No. 172, Wellington Street last night and asked to be shown some European boots. They were each shown a pair, but as the price did not suit one of the "intending buyers," he walked further into the shop, pretending to follow the mysteries of boot-making. The salesman followed this man, while his companion, as soon as he saw the way clear, bolted out of the shop with a pair of boots under his arm. A chase followed and the coolie was arrested. He was placed before Mr. F. A. Hazeland this morning and sentenced to three weeks' hard labour and six hours' stocks. Defendant had a previous conviction, and his Worship recommended the man for banishment.

THE case in which P. C. 48 Glendinning proceeded against two natives—a man and a woman—first being in possession of a quantity of morphine in their premises at West Point, was continued at the Police Court this morning. It will be remembered that defendants said they were in possession of pepper (quinine) and not morphine, and the case had to be adjourned for the compound to be analysed. Mr. Frank Browne, Government analyst, stated that on May 1st he received two packages from the police. The contents of the packages were duly examined and found to be morphine, while the contents of one bottle were discovered to be a mixture of quinine and salts. His Worship—"I thought all the time that all was morphine!" Mr. Hoggarth—"So did we, your Worship." The case was further remanded to allow Mr. Browne to analyse more of the contents of the packages.

THE CIVIL SERVICE ESTIMATES.

CHINA, JAPAN, AND THE FAR EAST.

The Civil Service Estimates for the year ending March 31, 1907, are now issued, and we give below the usual details concerning the votes relating specially to China, Japan, and the Far East. The figures enclosed in parentheses are last year's votes, and are given for purposes of comparison. Where no comparisons are made the figures are the same as last year.

DIPLOMATIC AND CONSULAR BUILDINGS.

Under the heading of "New Works, alterations, Additions, and Purchases (including Furniture in connection therewith)," are the following votes:—Siam, Bangkok, new court and accommodation for staff £450; erection of house for second gaoier, £150; filling up and levelling compound, £250. LAKON: House for Vice-Consul, £650. China, Japan and Korea: Erection of new building, alterations and additions to existing buildings, and acquisition of sites, £4,120 (£5,530). The Indian Government contributes a sum annually towards the cost of Diplomatic and Consular Services in China, Persia, and Siam; the rents payable for buildings, &c., in China forming a part of such Services. The vote in this section of £10 for the maintenance and repair of cemeteries in China, Japan, Korea and Siam is included in a general vote for the maintenance of cemeteries in foreign countries.

THE DIPLOMATIC SERVICE.

China—(partly repayable from Indian revenues).—Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, £5,000; Councillor, £800; Chinese Secretary, £1,200; Chaplain, £200; Commercial Attaché, £1,000 and £167 for rent. Japan.—Ambassador £5,000 (£4,000); Councillor, £800; Japanese Secretary, £1,000 (£1,000), including an allowance of £100 a year for superintending the studies of students. Korea.—Minister Resident, £1,500. Siam.—The only vote under this head is £1,600 for the Minister Resident and Consul-General, which is the same as previous years. From the statement showing the distribution of Second and Third Secretaries in His Majesty's Embassies and Legations abroad on Dec. 1, 1905, we note there is one Second Secretary and one Third Secretary at China, and one Second Secretary and one Third Secretary at Japan, the salaries and allowances of whom are not stated. Houses are provided in all the above cases except for Chaplain at Peking and Commercial Attaché, and are taken into account in another vote for rents and taxes.

PROPERTY SALE.

At their sales rooms, in Des Voeux Road, this afternoon, by order of the mortgagees, Messrs. Hughes and Hough put up for sale by public auction the following two lots of valuable leasehold property, situate at Victoria: Lot 1 comprised the piece or parcel of ground registered in the Land Office as inland lot No. 15, together with the buildings thereon erected, and known as Nos. 48 Bonham Strand, and 19 Bird Street, comprising an area of 2576 square feet, and carrying an annual Crown rent of $45.43.

Lot 2 comprised the piece of ground registered in the Land Office as marine lot No. 76 with the buildings thereon erected and known as Nos. 60 Wing Lok Street and 268 Des Voeux Road Central, having an area of 1,400 square feet, and carrying an annual Crown rent of $14.68.

There was a very large concourse of wealthy Chinese merchants and bankers present, and the bidding for these properties was very brisk. When the first lot was put up the first bid offered was $15,000, and with that as a basis it rose by leaps and bounds, by bids of $500 each, to $31,500, after which the bids varied from $500 to $300 each, until the last bid, $36,100, was reached, the lot being then knocked down to Mr. Pan Hi Ping, of Bonham Street.

The sale of Lot 2 was then proceeded with, the bidding again starting at $15,000. In this sale the bidding was more desultory, seldom rising above $300 at a bid, and after the auctioneer had "given them all plenty of time" to make up their minds, the hammer fell when the bidding stood at $27,200, at which figure Mr. Tang Chi Ngon, of the Hung Yu Bank, was declared the purchaser.

Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master were the solicitors for the mortgagees.

COLLISION IN THE STRAITS.

RUSSIAN TRANSPORT RAMS THE "BENTONG."

From the Singapore Free Press, of the 28th ult., we gather the following particulars of the collision in the Straits of Malacca already reported by telegram in these columns.

On Thursday night, about an hour before midnight, there occurred in the Straits of Malacca one of those disastrous shipping fatalities from which we have been singularly free of late. The Haversham Grange, a troopship, conveying Russian soldiers to Odessa, ran into the local steamship Bentong, which was coming down from Port Dickson for Malacca. The collision had the inevitable result, when the sizes of the two ships are considered, and the Bentong sank within a few minutes. Thanks to the prompt action of the officers of the troopship, over seventy of the passengers and crew of the local ship were saved, while the Tosa Maru, which was passing at the time, also stood by and saved others. The number of drowned is, however, as yet uncertain, but it was feared that it would not be much less than thirty. None of the officers of the ship were lost, whilst the only European passenger, as far as we can ascertain, a Mr. Francis, was saved.

In conversation with Dr. Brooke and the Boarding Officer, Captain Howe said that immediately after the collision he stopped his ship, ordered the boats to be lowered to pick up the people from the Bentong, as he noticed she was settling fast, but by the time the boats had got away the Bentong had disappeared beneath the waves—a few minutes after the collision. Many of her passengers and crew were, however, seen in the water and these the boats from the Haversham Grange proceeded to pick up.

THE SURVIVORS.

Amongst those thus rescued were Captain Penn, master of the Bentong; his one officer; Mr. Cooke, the chief engineer; Mr. Otto Day, the second engineer; and Mr. Francis, a passenger. Captain Penn and his chief officer had injuries on the head, and the European passenger had a gash on the neck below the ear.

DAMAGE TO THE "HAVERSHAM GRANGE." The Haversham Grange also sustained severe damage. She struck the Bentong on the starboard bow and twisted about ten feet of her own stem to an angle of thirty degrees to starboard. The forward plates started and the vessel commenced to leak, but the collision bulkhead was closed and the leak confined to the forepeak, which rapidly filled, and on the arrival of the vessel here contained 24 ft. of water.

After Dr. Brooke had made his examination of the vessel she came in and anchored off Tanjong Pagar, Captain Howe expressing the intention of having his ship docked to-day for temporary repairs prior to proceeding on his voyage.

CARRYING RUSSIAN SOLDIERS.

The Haversham Grange is on her way to Odessa from Vladivostok with 3,524 Russian soldiers and 15 officers on board. She did not call at Singapore but passed through the port. She is a vessel of 4,895 tons burthen, 800 horse power, which would give her the speed of about twelve knots, and belongs to Greenock. She left Vladivostok on the 14th instant.

THE time required for a journey round the earth by a man walking day and night, without resting, would be 428 days; an express train, forty days; sound, at a medium temperature, 324 hours; a cannon ball, 21½ hours; light, a little over one-tenth of a second; and electricity, passing over a copper wire, a little under one-tenth of a second.

THE fire which destroyed the old Houses of Parliament broke out on October 16th, 1834. The present building, termed the Palace of Westminster, was opened on November 4th, 1852. It stands on a bed of concrete 12 ft. thick, and covers an area of nine statute acres. It contains 1,100 apartments, 100 staircases, and two miles of corridors and passages. The great Victoria Tower, at the south-west extremity, is 346 ft. in height.

EUROPEAN FIRMS SERIOUSLY AFFECTED.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Singapore, 2nd May, 4.30 p.m.

In addition to the failure of the Chinese firm of merchants last month, when the amount involved was estimated at three and a half lakhs of dollars, further failures have to be recorded to-day.

The firms in difficulties are also Chinese.

The extent of their insolvency is variously estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Other firms are reported to be tottering, and it will be no matter for surprise if they suspend payment forthwith.

These extensive failures of Chinese firms unfortunately involve nearly every one of the European mercantile houses whose business is seriously affected in consequence.

The British Budget.

LONDON, 1st May.

The Budget shows a realised surplus, for 1905-1906, of £3,466,000.

The estimated expenditure for 1906-1907 is £141,785,000, and the revenue £144,860,000, thus after a deduction of about £400,000 for contingencies, there will be a surplus for disposal of about £2,700,000.

It is proposed to devote £500,000 of this and £500,000 of the Chinese indemnity to a reduction of the debt, making, with the ordinary provision, and with the surplus of 1905-1906, a total reduction of £1,350,000. £200,000 will be devoted to certain postal charges, and the differential duty on stripped tobacco reduced by 2½d.

The loss to the revenue by remissions amounts to £2,000,000.

The duty on coal has been repealed.

The income tax and beer and spirit duties remain unchanged.

Mr. H. J. Geddes, of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. H. W. Looker, of Messrs. Deacon, Looker and Deacon, defended.

Mr. Geddes said that he appeared for the prosecution in the case and as there was no evidence to substantiate the charge, he would ask his Worship to withdraw the charge.

His Worship—So you are willing to withdraw the charge?

Mr. Geddes—Yes, your Worship.

His Worship—Have the police any objection?

P. C. Connell—No, your Worship.

The defendant was accordingly discharged.

PROF. JENKS.

At the time of Prof. Jenks' visit to China when he had before the Chinese Government carefully thought out schemes for China's financial reform, it was clearly understood that his suggestions had been approved and his services as financial adviser would be engaged. H. E. Wu Ting-fang was, if we mistake not, strongly in favour of engaging Mr. Jenks, as he fully realised the financier knew what he was talking about, and quite as fully that without foreign assistance China would certainly not know how to set about her great financial reform problem. But Wu Ting-fang has had to contend with no small difficulties in Peking surrounded as he is by officials who do not know A from B, and the idea of employing a foreigner to superintend the coin of the realm and dictate to them how their money should be coined was very repugnant to the conservative members of the Government, and so Prof. Jenks was shelved. The so-called currency reforms have been nominally inaugurated, but as we know, no real progress has been made and matters are in as great a muddle as ever. When the two High Commissioners were in America the other day it was perhaps natural that they should have an interview with Prof. Jenks, and we understand he has been able to demonstrate to them that they are tackling the problem the wrong way, and that a dispatch has been sent to the Government urging that the original idea be carried out, and Prof. Jenks be invited to come to Peking. The opposition to this idea is said to be much weaker than formerly, but a hitch still exists inasmuch as it is feared another nation may take exception to his employment. This is the alleged excuse for not clinching his engagement any way, but we have rather a suspicion that the idea of currency reform is as unpopular as the abolition of tithing and all other reforms which are likely directly or indirectly to curtail the official conjurer's facilities.

THIS NEWSPAPER IN COURT.

JUDGMENT FOR RESPONDENTS.

In Appellate Jurisdiction this morning the Full Bench, consisting of their Honour Sir Francis Piggott, Chief Justice, and Mr. A. G. Wise, Puisne Judge, delivered judgment in the appeal in the case of Tam Man Sam v. Tam Yan and another, which was an appeal against the decision of the Puisne Judge in the case brought by appellant against respondents for breach of contract. Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., instructed by Mr. C. E. H. Beavis, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Crist, appeared for the appellants, and Mr. M. W. Stadel instructed by Mr. C. V. Stevenson, of Messrs. Deacon, Looker and Deacon, represented the respondents.

THE JUDGMENT.

In delivering judgment, the Chief Justice said:—The arguments on both sides were almost too learned for the case to carry to us, we know the exact conditions of the contract as translated by the Court translator at the close of the case. The condition of things which was to result from the payment of the quarter of the purchase price was, speaking for myself, very difficult to understand, but it afterwards appeared that the business was to be carried on at the purchase price, and risk as from that date. But the right to control the printing and publishing of the newspapers was not to pass into his hands till the actual completion of the contract by the payment of the balance of the price. What happened when the one fourth was tendered was, to my mind, this:—The purchaser misconstrued the meaning of the transfer of the business to him and went in, not exactly at arms, at least with his staff, to take up his position of proprietor and printer. If his action had rested there, and if all that happened on the subsequent day had been a determination of the contract by the vendors, I should have hesitated to hold this a repudiation by the purchaser involving a forfeiture of the deposit. But the learned judge who tried this case was of opinion that he did intend to repudiate, and this of itself would have debared me from coming to such a conclusion. Apart from this consideration, however, the relation in the case as to what happened on June 5 at the meeting of the vendors at which the purchaser was present and their subsequent decision after he had left, seems to show clearly that the discussion must have been renewed and that the purchaser insisted on the erroneous interpretation of the contract. Even therefore if the case were one in which I should be justified in reviewing the learned judge's finding of fact I should agree with that finding. I am of opinion that the contract remained uncompleted solely through the fault of the appellant. The appeal must therefore be dismissed with costs.

The Puisne Judge:—This action was brought by the appellant (then plaintiff) before me in Summary Jurisdiction against the respondents (then defendants) for $1,000, being as to $500 thereof for the return of money deposited by the appellant on June 2 in part payment of the purchase money of the business property and effects of the Sai Kai Kung Yik Po Company, Limited, (which is a newspaper company) contracted to be sold by the respondents to the appellant, and as to the balance of $500 for damages for breach by the respondents of the said contract. I decided in favour of the respondents on items and the appellant has accepted my finding on the second item and is only appealing on the first. The question came before the Full Court on a special case stated by the parties and so far as this Court is concerned it is confined to the statements in that case. The facts are shortly as follows:—The respondents are the liquidators of the said newspaper business, and were desirous of selling the same. Tenderers were asked for and the appellant's tender of $9,270 was accepted, subject to his previously depositing $500 which he did on June 2. An agreement was entered into between the appellants and the respondent, which contained, inter alia, the following clause: "The purchaser (that is, the appellant) must pay one fourth of the price before three p.m. on June 4 or 5 (that is, within 48 hours) before the profit of the business of this company and the expense of all descriptions can be taken over by the new man."

It is decided that if the successful purchaser has first actually paid one fourth of the price, including the deposit money for the tender within 48 hours the remainder of the price shall be paid and the transaction completed within ten days. If the transaction be not completed within the time all sums that have been paid shall be forthwith wholly forfeited. As regards the rights of printing and publishing the same shall not be handed over until the transaction has been completed."

As I read this agreement the meaning is that after payment of the deposit the appellant had to pay one fourth (less deposit) of the purchase money by three p.m. on June 4, and that he had ten days within which to pay the balance. That on payment of the one fourth, less deposit, the business was run at his risk up to the time that the balance of the purchase money was paid and that on the payment of the balance he then became entitled to possession. There is also the forfeiture clause I have read. The appellant, however, was of opinion that he would be entitled to possession on the payment of the one-fourth (that is on June 4). I decided that his reading of the agreement was wrong and that portion of my judgment was not in dispute. Acting, however, on his mistaken assumption the appellant tendered the one-fourth (less deposit) on June 4 subject to the condition that he got immediate possession. The respondents naturally objected and the appellant refused to pay and left with the money in his pocket. It must be noticed that this is not a case in which a man has failed to pay an instalment in consequence of want of money, but a case in which a man with the money refuses to pay unless the contract is altered to his liking. I hold that to be a flat repudiation of the agreement by the appellant. In my opinion the appellant meant to repudiate the contract unless he got his own way the respondents were quite justified in considering that he did so mean and as they say they thereupon considered the matter ended. A night's consideration, however, took the appellant to his solicitors who, no doubt, acting from instructions, derived from the said erroneous assumption of the appellant as to his rights under the agreement, wrote a letter on June 5. The effect of that letter, roughly stated, is that if the respondents did not fall in with the appellant's views they (the solicitors) would commence legal proceedings at once to compel the respondents to complete the sale and to recover damages which they estimated at $1,000. There was no reply to that letter and on June 14 (being the last day under ordinary circumstances for the completion of the agreement) the appellant's solicitors again wrote tendering the purchasing money less deposit and threatening (in case of refusal) legal proceedings for breach of contract. The arguments before us turned principally on the legal question as to whether in this case time was or was not the essence of the contract, but I prefer to base my decision as I did at the hearing on the broad fact that the action of the appellant was a direct and intentional repudiation of the agreement as it actually existed, and an intimation that he would not carry it out unless altered to suit his own ideas. Under these circumstances I think the appeal ought to be dismissed with costs.

BREACH OF SHIPPING RULES.

SHIPMASTER FINED.

The master of the Norwegian steamer Rein was summoned at the Police Court this morning, at the instance of the Water Police, for misrepresenting the number of passengers when applying for a port clearance at the Harbour Office on April 8th, and also for attempting to leave the harbour for Bangkok with more passengers than the number allowed by his port clearance.

The defendant pleaded "not guilty" on the first summons and averred, on the second, that he did not know there were any passengers on board.

Serjt. Wilden said that when he went alongside the ship was ready to leave for Bangkok. He boarded her, however, and found that according to the port clearance the ship was not entitled to carry any passengers, but twenty-five were discovered on board.

His Worship found the defendant guilty and fined him $5.

Messrs. Wo Hing Chan, said to be the charterers of the Norwegian steamer Rein, were next summoned by the Water Police, before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, for allowing the ship to attempt to leave the harbour for Bangkok on April 8th last, with more passengers on board than allowed by her port clearance.

Mr. R. Harding, of Messrs. Ewens, Harston and Harding, defended.

Evidence was heard to the effect that on April 8th, when the police pinnace went alongside the s.s. Rein their port anchor was up, as also was the gangway. They were ordered to lower the anchor and gangway again and the vessel was boarded. The port clearance was examined; it did not allow any passengers, while they had twenty-five on board. Fifteen of the passengers only had tickets. The other passengers were then ordered ashore.

Cross-examined:—The port clearance shown witness by the captain of the Rein did not allow him to carry any passengers.

The Captain of the Rein said that Messrs. Angard, Thoresen and Company were the agents of the ship. Witness "thought" Wo Hing Chan were the charterers. Defendant told witness to take out a port clearance, but did not mention the number of passengers he intended to ship, so witness got a blank port clearance at the harbour office. Witness took his orders from the defendant.

Cross-examined: Witness did not know the name of his charterers. The Rein was only allowed to carry twelve passengers. Witness was not sure, but he thought that when the officer came on board he included the comrade staff in his calculations.

Insp. Langley: If the comrade staff are not down on the articles, your Worship, they count as passengers.

A Chinese shipping clerk in the defendant's firm said the s.s. Rein was under charter to a Chinese firm in Bangkok, and defendants were only the agents for the charterers. Witness thought it was the duty of the captain to call at their office for information. On this occasion the captain did not call, nor did he say how many passengers he had cleared for. Out of twelve tickets written out, ten of them were sold. This was the first experience of the Wo Hing Chan in shipping business.

By the Court—When witness met the captain on the forenoon before the ship sailed he did not ask the captain about the port clearance, as he did not think it was his duty.

His Worship—The point the defendants are going to raise is that they are not the agents, charterers or consignees.

Mr. Harding—That's so, your Worship.

After evidence was heard, his Worship adjourned the case for decision.

THE DISPUTE ABOUT TABAH.

POSSIBILITIES OF A NEW ARABIAN ROUTE.

The responsibilities of Empire certainly involve us in some odd quarrels, and take us into queer corners of the earth. Who ever heard of Tabah before the past fortnight? Akabah we know, chiefly because, in our school days, we have been talked to about Ezion Geber and King Solomon's fleets. But Tabah? Well, it turns out to be a name given to more than one tract about the head of the Eastern fork of the Red Sea; and it is quite possible that the present imbroglio is due simply to a geographical misunderstanding.

TWO TABAH.

Tabah means a low-lying, marshy tract; and there is, on the one hand, Wady Tabah, a patch of white palms with good well-water, on the western shore of the Gulf, opposite to Akabah, on the eastern.

This is, presumably, the place recently occupied by the Turks, and obviously improperly; for, though Akabah is Ottoman territory, the line of demarcation runs north-eastward from the head of the Gulf, and puts any tract on the eastern shore into Egyptian territory. But there is also, at the head of the Gulf itself, and much nearer to Akabah, a larger tract called Tabah, a stretch of marsh at the outfall of Wady Akabah, the great Valley, which continues the depression of the Jordan and the Dead Sea. On the eastern side of this, and clearly within Turkish territory, lies a spot where good wells can be found, 'Ain Tabah, the last station before Akabah on the road from Maana and the Dead Sea. To which of these Tabahs the Ottoman troops, sent from Maana, have taken themselves there is no doubt; but to which of them they were ordered to go is less certain.

It is quite possible the first Tabah has been mistaken by an ignorant commandant for the second, and that Egyptian territory has been violated, without that ever having been the intention at headquarters. Once encamped, the Ottoman commandant, due to the traditions of this race, will sit down obstinately till satisfied that it is his superiors who order him to move; and as there is no telegraph to Tabah, nor, indeed, any nearer than Maana, he may sit some time.

THE OTTOMAN POLICY.

There is, we believe, no properly delimited frontier to the Egyptian province on this side; no boundary-posts warn the traveller when he has passed from the Sultan's dominion to the Khedive's—or, rather, in strict fact, from the Sultan's province of Sham (Damascus) to his province of Masr (Cairo). The worthy Binbashi in command had not much to guide him, and in due course he will no doubt retreat from one Tabah to the other, having, all unwittingly, given diplomats and evening journals some thing to talk about, and his own superiors a bad half-hour on which, quite possibly, neither one Tabah is marked nor the other.

Mistake or not, however, the Ottoman policy, which had led to this movement of troops towards the Gulf of Akabah, ought to be carefully watched. We do not suppose for one moment that it is designed to reopen the Egyptian question from the Ottoman side, or even to revive that dispute about boundaries which has to be scotched by Lord Cromer on the accession of the present Khedive.

But the dispute in question was undoubtedly an early sign that the Turk was beginning to understand the importance of the Gulf of Akabah to his Empire; and his recent movement on Tabah is the latest result of that same understanding.

THE SECRET OF THE YEMEN.

The latter which most constantly and strongly possesses the Imperial mind at Vildiz is the question of Arabia.

There lies the focus of the creed in virtue of which the Ottoman Sultan keeps an Empire together at all. On his continued possession of the "Marameh," the two Holy Cities, depends the recognition of his Caliphate by millions of his actual subjects.

But Arabia is alien to the Turk, difficult to control, restless, and insubordinate. The Yemen blazes into revolt every few years; Asir, the district immediately south of Mecca, is in almost chronic rebellion. The great Emirs of Beda acknowledge the Ottoman Sultan only when they wish to crush a rival. The Meccans, indolent and corrupt, retain their Sherif, and profess little loyalty to the Caliph. The land-roads to the Hejaz and thence to Yemen, where a whole army corps is stationed, is beset and frequently cut by irresponsible Bedawis. How is this all-important peninsula to be knit more closely to the Caliphate throne?

Taking a hint determined it shall be done by railways. He hopes much from the Baghdad line, when it shall be made to Koweit; but for his better avenue of approach on the west he did not wait for European financiers and German companies. He projected, advertised, and forced through the Hejaz railway himself as a purely Moslem undertaking, giving from his Privy Purse, collecting from rich Moslems in India and all over the world, mulcting his officials of their salaries, and taxing every possible commodity or transaction to increase the revenue of the "Hejaz Stamp."

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY.

In the event he has got a railway laid, tant bien que mal, right down the Syrian Road from Acrib, the terminus of the French Damascus line, to Maana, south of the Dead Sea, and, indeed, some 100 Kilometres farther still.

But that is only half way to Mecca. Funds have run low. The country a head is less under his control, and the Bedawis have been very turbulent in the northern Hejaz of late, especially that great tribe which bears the ominous name of Harb (War). Stopping where it does, the railway is after all of little service to his imperial designs; but could it be prolonged pro tempore to a port on the Gulf of Akabah, it would become a link of immense importance with Jiddah and the Yemen.

Abdul Hamid saw the possible value of that desert tongue of sea, which runs up to the Wady Arabah, many years ago; he sees it with double clearness now. The distance from his present rail head to Akabah is not much over 100 miles; the highest still in the Wady Arabah is not 700 feet. He could easily have a branch railway made to the Gulf. Even a canal is not impossible.

Therefore, as a preliminary measure, he reinforces the garrison in the Akabah district, and we—well, we watch and keep our hands free on the western shore of the Gulf, for no new route to the Red Sea and the East can be wholly indifferent to us.—D. G. Hogarth in Morning Leader.

A SENSATIONAL WEDDING TRIP.

A story of thrilling interest comes from Cook County, the most north easterly division of Minnesota. It relates to the home-going of a newly-married couple, who were attacked by wolves, and had to ride and fight for their lives. Mr. Carlson is what the Americans call a homesteader. He and Miss Lena Hanson, of Ontario, were married at Grand Marais, and decided to set out at once for the Carlson homestead. The sky was overcast, and night was sure to set in early. Their means of transportation was a home-made sleigh, drawn by two farm-horses.

The happy pair were still three miles from home, the woods were dark, and night was fast closing in, when suddenly there came the howl of a wolf. It was the "pack-rail," and quickly there was answering howls. The whole pack was on the trail.

"Do you think they will attack us?" asked Mrs. Carlson, in tremulous tones of her husband. "Sure," was the brief reply.

"Have you got another revolver?" asked the bride, after a pause.

Carlson shook his head.

"Well, I can drive, you know, if that will be any help."

Carlson flashed a look of pride at his bride, and nodded. The horses were galloping, and they needed no whip. The animals were mad with fear of the desperate brutes that were now gathered for the attack. The wolves, about seven or eight in number, loomed easily behind the sleigh, drawing steadily nearer, their eyes gleaming. Caution is a deep-seated quality in the timber wolf, and he is not slow to draw slowly to their quarry, but he is not slow to strike when their leader should give the signal. Suddenly the leader of the pack shot up, ahead of his companions. He was now close up. The attack was at hand. The big grey leader leaped up-level with the heads of the bride and bridegroom, but did not attempt to land in the sleigh. It was a sort of preliminary leap of investigation, but the other wolves came close behind him, and all were ready to seize upon the couple.

"Take the reins, and let the horses guide themselves," shouted Carlson as he swung around and faced the pack. His revolver was worthy of the work at hand. It was a 38-calibre make. With this in his right hand and with his left resting on the back of the seat to steady him, Carlson prepared to fight for the life of his bride and himself. The sleigh rocked perilously at times for the road was rough in places, but the danger of a tip over could not then be even considered.

Carlson has scarcely faced the wolves for action when the leader again leaped, this time with a view of seizing the man. Carlson fired and wounded the beast, which fell back howling upon the 10. But the leader was not put out of action. He was quickly back in his position, more savage and eager for battle than before. Two of the wolves shot alongside the sleigh to the right, and one took the same position on the left beside the bride. Carlson quickly shot one of the two on his side, and, reaching over to the other side, killed the one that threatened to leap upon his wife. The beasts were disconcerted at this, but came on again eager for their prey.

Carlson wounded two more of the brutes, and then his cartridges were gone. Another wolf tried to leap upon the bride from the side of the sleigh, but she fled the ship on the breast with such good will that he drew back. Just then the sleigh dashed into the clearing of the Carlson's cabin, and the husband shouted with joy. He thought the wolves would disperse. But they were hungry, and the capture of light was in them.

Carlson's brave and faithful dog sprang forward, but the first wolf he attacked killed him. Quickly leaping from the sleigh, Mrs. Carlson made for the door of the log cabin, and Carlson, kicking it open, pushed her in, and bidding her close the door, once more faced the angry wolves. Four attacked him, and he backed towards the door. He thought of the team which had saved them, and wavered.

Suddenly there was a crash of glass, and from the broken window poured a shower of flames, which, lighting up the clearing, scared away the wolves.

What had happened was this: Once in the dark kitchen, Mrs. Carlson remembered a box of matches which she carried in the pocket of her cloak. Striking one, her eye fell on a kerosene lamp and an old birch broom. Quickly unceremoniously the lamp, she emptied the kerosene on to the broom, and, lighting it, she crashed it through the window. The wolves, who had braved revolver and knife, fled in terror. There were mutual congratulations and thanks, the sturdy team were safely stabled, and then Mr. and Mrs. Carlson sat down to their wedding supper, after their exciting home-coming.

MANNERS IN THE HOME.

There are many books published on "Social Etiquette," "Polite Form of Public Society," and "The Ethics of Smart Society," all concluding that the highest and best manners and conversation of men and women when associating together as "company."

Yes, it is "company manners" and "company" talk that are made much of in printed volumes, large and small, cheap and expensive in price. In comparison, the "output" concerning "Home Manners," "Domestic Politeness," and "Family Courtesy" is startlingly small. Perhaps this scarcity of elation of conjugal and parental and filial courtesy, may be held accountable for a large share of the lack of good home manners—since the lack of kind and gentle treatment of others is so seriously apparent in the large majority of homes.

Even when bad home manners are not at all abusive they are tinged with a certain unkindness that blurs the moral perception of each member of the family. This tends to a certain mental laxity that breeds evil for the citizenship. How much more important, then, is domestic courtesy than the ethics of smart society to a standard of responsible municipal government!

Bad home manners conduce to unhappiness and crime. Unhappiness and crime are conditions of all the people.

Polite forms of smart society conduce to the polish and glitter of a part of the people, the comparatively small part known as the wealthy and aristocratic. But, even this small part that has use for and practices the ethics of smart society is more or less infected with the unhappiness and crime that accrues from bad manners in his homes.

Dean Hole said, in a magazine, that he once rebuked a woman because her children were ill-behaved when he visited the home.

"Oh, please you, sir," replied this woman, "boys and young 'uns must have some place where they can enjoy themselves!"

Clearly, this woman felt that polite language and gentleness towards others were species of cruel restraint that had no free-to-all place in the happiest home. Apparently she believed that good manners should be shed, like tight collars and irritating shoes, when the family was sheltered beneath its roof.

There are scores of folk like the children of this woman. They don't enjoy good manners. They delight in freedom from a sense of being made to behave by the other fellow who demands the half-way right of way out in the open.

They take that freedom in the home. Since each member of the family is apt to take this freedom at the same time, trouble may be predicted.

The larger part of matrimonial dissolution, including divorce, is due to the bad manners of husbands and wives in homes. A discourtesy, a challenging criticism, an ironical retort—and the row begins! Then there are rows and rows that develop into mutual bitterness of spirit and estrangement.
